

FIGURE 1.7. Georges Cuvier expanded Linnaeus' taxonomy by grouping both living species and fossils in classes. He believed that function was the basis for classification of species and that new species were created after catastrophic extinction events.

1.7, National Library of Medicine

Evolution © 2007 Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory Press