

FIGURE 8.23. Exon shuffling occurs when exons from different genes are mixed and matched by recombination in the region between the exons.